NEW DIRECTIVES FROM ARCHBISHOP WESTER REGARDING COVID-19

The following are excerpts from the November 2, 2020 letter from Archbishop John C. Wester:

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

While many of the Catholic faithful in the Archdiocese have agreed with, and expressed appreciation for, the decision to close churches for indoor worship, several persist in concern and have reached out to me. In respect for your opinions, I have met with the COVID-19 Response Team today to seek once again their insight and advice. From our discussion, we have determined that the current course of action is both prudent and necessary. However, it is important to remember that this action is in no way permanent. The COVID-19 Response Team will be continually assessing the situation and medical recommendations over the next several weeks in the hope that we can ease restrictions sooner than later. Hardship is neither pleasant nor welcomed; we continue to seek the common good of all of God’s creation.

The Eucharist is the source and summit of our lives as Catholics--a precious gift beyond compare. Christ is truly present in his very Body and Blood. When we cannot receive the Eucharist together in this way, we long for an important sacrament of our faith, one that sustains us and gives us life. However, this beautiful reality does not negate the many other ways that Jesus is present to us. Though challenging, this time of separation can be an opportunity for growth.

Most Reverend John C. Wester
Archbishop of Santa Fe
